MRS. SCOTT'S REPORT

Makes Vigorous Reply to Charge of Debt Urged Against Her
Administration.

With the progress of the annual congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution, it becomes evident that the big body of women is divided into two opposing camps or factions, one of which, through its representatives, takes the opportunity whenever such offers itself to voice its opposition to the proposed measures of the other.

This evidence of party feeling does not, however, signify that the Daughters are divided on the main underlying principles upon which their organization is founded. On these they thoroughly agree, but they disagree at times on the measures proposed to carry out the true mission of the society, and they thoroughly disagree at present as to the officers who should be entrusted with the leadership of the national organization.

Chances Are Frequent.

This wholesome difference of opinion cropped up frequently yesterday at both morning and afternoon sessions and was carried into the various meetings of the State delegations, which met yesterday for the election of officers and the discussion and movement of candidates for the election of ten vice presidents general and two honorary vice presidents general, which takes place this morning. The chances are that the two opposing parties, known as the administration party, headed by Mrs. Matthew T. Scott, and the conservative wing, of which Mrs. William Cummings is the avowed leader, will continue to clash for a long time to come. Mrs. Matthew T. Scott, as chairman of the Memorial Continental Hall committee, in her report yesterday afternoon emphasized the words when she said: "It is very far from being a disgrace being in debt," referring to Mrs. Fairbanks' statement on Monday afternoon in which she spoke of the burden of debt which the organization carried on its back.

Mrs. Scott tellingly declared that every important business concern and nation is in debt, and concluded by saying that every Daughter is partly responsible for the debt contracted by the national society and that there could be no better security. She paid tribute to Mrs. Donald McLean, an honorary president general, who made an address for her far-sightedness in connection with the financial arrangements. Mrs. Scott said that the society was $170,000 in debt and that its home was worth $200,000, and that therefore, the Daughters were $30,000 better off financially than they were only a few years ago, when they occupied rented quarters.

Harrison Memorial Tablet.

Great difference of opinion arose as to the most appropriate place where a memorial tablet in honor of the founder and first president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Mrs. Caroline Scott Harrison, should be placed. Mrs. Scott said that $100 had already been contributed by members, while $100 had been pledged. A motion to place it in the Indiana room was vigorously opposed by Miss Janet Richards, of Washington, who made an amendment that the tablet be placed in the auditorium on the ground that Mrs. Harrison was a national president and belonged to the whole organization, and not exclusively to the Indiana society. Mrs. Mary Lockwood informed the members that the laws of the organization prohibited the placing of tablets in the auditorium. Mrs. Richards withdrew her amendment and moved that the tablet be placed in the room of the president general, and when she was told that this was also the Indiana room, she withdrew her motion. It was finally decided to place it in the president general's room.

Report on Relics.

Miss Anna Caroline Henning, chairman of the committee of Revolutionary relics, made a verbal report itemizing the various relics which were presented to the society during the past year, including a memorial tablet to John Jay, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, and his wife, Mary, the gift of Ella A. Bartlett, of Kingston, N. H. Mrs. Amos G. Draper, regent of the Maryland Chapter, made the presentation, and Mrs. Sarah F. R. Dearborn, State regent of New Hampshire, made the address. Music and songs were by Mrs. Sadie Dickey Simpson.

Other relics or memorials presented included a marble bust of Mrs. Mary Hammon, Washington, being the great daughter of the society, the daughter of Samuel Hammon, the first American Governor of Missouri, appointed by Thomas Jefferson, Mrs. W. L. Peck, of Georgia, making the presentation address.

Mrs. John Laidlaw, State regent of Connecticut, presented a marble bust and pedestal of Oliver Ellsworth, third Chief Justice of the United States, Colorado, through its State regent, Mrs. Freeman C. Rogers, presented $200 for a Colorado bust and calling the attention of the Daughters to the fact that the Continental Hall is the only building in the world erected by women descendants of TREASURER-GENERAL OF THE D. A. R.

Mrs. John R. Walker, of Missouri, candidate for honorary vice president general, is called the sleeping beauty in the society, and is unanimously endorsed by her State.

Among the chairs which occupy prominent positions on the platform are five given by chapters of the District. There is one of particularly heavy and artistic design, given by Mrs. Lillian Russell Messenger, of the Continental Chapter, a memorial to Mrs. Caroline H. Russell. The other four were given by the Margaret Whetten Chapter, Mary Bartlett Chapter, and two chairs by the Monticello Chapter.

Mrs. Grace Richard Gatch, the stern guardian of the portals at Continental Hall, whose duty it is to keep a curious guard on the entrance, is at the door, extremely well dressed. This is the fourth year Mrs. Gatch has served on the house committee.

The report of the treasurer general of the D. A. R. shows that during the year New York State has contributed to Continental Hall $100, and to the patriotic education fund a total of $250 for the furnishing of the New York State room.

Texas chapters have expended a total of $125 for the furnishing of the Texas room.
